Cocaine/Eucaíne Sales Register: Déjà Vu or Tête-bêche?

If this image of a Cocaine and Eucaíne Register of Sales seems like déja vu, that is because it is the “reverse” or “upside-down” book built into the opposite pagings of the Cocaine and Eucaíne Register of Purchases, which was featured as one of our September 2012 Anesthesiology Reflections. Such an unusual binding is called a tête-bêche (French for “head-to-toe”). In other words, if you start at the front cover of the Purchases, read right-hand pages to the last page, close the book to reveal the back cover, and then rotate the book 180 degrees, you will see that Purchase’s back cover is actually the upside-down front cover of Sales. Now if you were a librarian at the Wood Library-Museum, how would you shelve Sales — upside up or upside down? (Copyright © the American Society of Anesthesiologists, Inc.)
