HISTORICAL SKETCH

This collection is called the ASRA II Archives, because this is the second society to bear that name. The first American Society of Regional Anesthesia (ASRA I) was founded in 1923, and continued until at least 1940. It is believed to have dissolved informally as a result of the difficulties of meeting during World War II.

The second American Society of Regional Anesthesia (ASRA II) was organized on June 19, 1975. Its first annual meeting was held on October 14, 1975. A "membership meeting" was held in March 1976, establishing the pattern of semi-annual meetings that has been followed to the present day. At that first spring meeting, the Society determined on an active program which included publishing a journal, giving research grants, and an award for the best student research paper.

At the second fall meeting, October 1976, the first Labat Awards were presented. The first issue of the quarterly journal, "Regional Anesthesia" is dated October-December 1976. Originally eight pages in length, the journal has grown steadily to its present length of over 100 pages per issue.

At the second spring meeting, March 1977, the Board accepted an offer of financial support for its hands-on workshops from Astra Pharmaceutical Products. ASRA workshops were given at several locations throughout the country, from 1977 to 2001. Workshops continue to be a feature of the fall annual meeting. The first ASRA Newsletter was issued in February 1978.

In March 1980 the Abbott Lectureship was established with support from Abbott Laboratories, Inc.

In October 1980, discussions began for a joint meeting with the ESRA in 1982; report given on the "Heidelberg Meeting"

March 1981 proposal of joint ASRA-ESRA membership accepted

May 1981, first day-long meeting of ESRA in Brussels

September 1981 ESRA in Paris

October 1981 Brachial Plexus mannequin??

October 1981 grant to ESRA??

March 1982 report on ESRA; RA centennial meeting to be held in Vienna 1884

October 1982, Scientific Exhibit for ASA

March 1983, first refresher course?

October 1983, "Regional Anesthesia" becomes official journal of the ESRA

September 12, 1984 Board meeting held in Vienna

September 1986, established a Distinguished Service Award.

March 1987, report on liaison with "Canadian Anesthetists Association" joint workshop in 1988?

October 1987, accepted "a ($12K) grant from Pharmacia Deltec for a period of 10 years to support a John Bonica Lecture on Pain."

1988 joint ASRA/ESRA meeting in Williamsburg, prior to WFSA in D. C.

March 1990, grant to AOSRA

In 1990, the American Society of Anesthesiologists admitted seven subspecialty societies, including ASRA, as voting members of its House of Delegates. ASRA submitted its first report to the House of Delegates in 1995.

Report of planned joint ESRA / ASRA meeting prior to the 1982 WFSA in Brussels

ASRA to have one delegate and one alternate delegate in the ASA House of Delegates

August 1990 "little is known" of ESRA's plans

1994 first Comprehensive Review of Regional Anesthesia?

April 1994 established an ad-hoc Resident's section.

September 1997, changed title of Journal to "Regional Anesthesia and Pain Medicine".

May 1999, changed name of Society to American Society of Regional Anesthesia and Pain Medicine.

In 2004, the Wood Library-Museum of Anesthesiology became the official repository for the Society's archival records.

Newsletter issues removed to the Library. Only duplicate copies are retained in this collection.

ARRANGEMENT

The structure of ASRA and the functions of its committees have changed often. For example, at one time the Education Committee was responsible for workshops, courses and the annual meeting. Later, these became the responsibility of separate committees.

The records in this collection are incomplete, and do not represent each of these changes. The processor has chosen not to create groups and series that attempt to echo this fluid structure. In this way, the records of important functions such as annual meetings are filed in a single continuum.

Most of the record groups are arranged chronologically. The Miscellaneous Committees Group is divided into subgroups. The Education Committee Group is divided into series.
